

Blissful memories are like a series of images on a film strip. Looking back whilst recalling the good times, we will undoubtedly be swept by the benevolent breeze of overwhelming emotions. The primary depiction of positive values and attitudes towards living is brought to light through a family hike. Healthy relationships in a family are truly one of the keys to optimism- but so is fulfilling an active lifestyle. To illustrate the fond remembrance of a good time, I have utilized saturated colors to emphasize the warmth of my objective of "a good time". As for highlighting the main image in the film strip, other variables, such as the girl and the rest of the strip in the background, are drawn in subtle colors and are slightly blurred.