

Brief of Work

My artwork is inspired by Gillian Bickley's poem "Grandfather". I have been dependent on my grandfather since I was a child, and he is the closest person to me. My grandfather took me to school every day before going to work. The roads that my grandfather took me through were warm because he always told me stories, guided me to understand the wonders of nature, and taught me to appreciate the beauty of life.

My grandfather also shared with me the important life lessons, such as the importance of respecting others, how to face difficulties bravely, and why I should be grateful. My grandfather's words were deeply imprinted on my mind, and they have become my motto.

My grandfather has passed away, but the memories he left will never be forgotten.
