

Selected Value: Perseverance

A rock hoppers determination

In the Southern Islands where the winds blow cold,
And amidst the sea with waves to behold,
There's furry fellows that dare to challenge,
It's harsh and unforgiving climate.

For every tumble, they rise again,
With hope that flickers through thick and thin.
In every trial, their strength is shown,
The rockhopper's spirit, fiercely grown.

Even with predators lurking each corner,
They still look out for each other.
So let's learn to persevere,
Like the rockhoppers who have no fear.