The Brave Blue Frog

The blue poison dart frogs,
coloured sapphire with indigo spots,
are resilient warriors.
Though many of their species have fallen,
leaving only few to deal with the tragedy.

The legacy of the deceased are honored.
With so little a dash of venom, or a touch so light it cannot be felt,
predators become incapacitated,
with no hope of ever recovering.

So poisonous and venomous,
the frogs are feared ubiquitously.
Though who knew, their poison comes from their diet.
And with the help of pests, the frogs maintain their toxicity.
Allowing them to protect their family.
