

Diligence

King of the Ice

On frozen stone and in screaming wind.
They take their stand, year in, year out.
No clock to punch, no shift to end.
In this white desert, full of doubt.
Just patient feet stood on one warm egg.
Against the endless bitter night.
And each deep dive from wave to rock.
Is work that fuels the coming light.