Embrace of the Otters

In a shimmering stream where the ripples play,
Two otters, they pause in the day.
With their gentle breath, in the warmth they lay,
Resting together, they savour the day!
After they play and hunt,
They share quiet moments together, as family do, so blunt.
After playful dives together, flowing tide,
They gather their treasures, hearts open wide with gentle purrs, they weave a bond so rare!
Understanding in silence, a connection laid bare.
Each playful splash tells a story of trust,
In a family united, that's loving and just.
These otters flow in a shared dream!
In laughter and joy, with hearts full of cheer!
They remind us that family is what we hold dear.
